

Table of Contents

ix Editorial, Ali C. Gedik, Amanda Bayley and Richard Parncutt

Special Issue

xi Foreword, Frans Wiering and Barbara Tillmann

1 The background and topic of the workshop
Rudolf Flotzinger

5 Cognition, early polyphony, and interdisciplinary musicology
Eleanor Selfridge-Field

Open Peer Commentary Article (Special Issue)

11 Effects of learning on dissonance judgments
Diana Omigie, Delphine Dellacherie and Séverine Samson

29 Open Peer Commentary

Commentary on 'Effects of learning on dissonance judgments'
Wolfgang Auhagen

Commentary on 'Effects of learning on dissonance judgments'
David Huron

Commentary on 'Effects of learning on dissonance judgments'
Daniel Müllensiefen

Interference, harmonicity, and well-formedness: A Response to 'Effects of Learning on Dissonance Judgments'
Jay Rahn

Commentary on 'Effects of learning on dissonance judgments'
Christine Alyn Beckett

Authors' Response

Deconstructing dissonance: The multifaceted role of learning
Diana Omigie

Open Peer Commentary Article (Special Issue)

39 Dissonance/roughness and tonality perception in Lithuanian traditional *Schwebungsdiaphonie
Rytis Ambrazevičius

55 Open Peer Commentary

Commentary on 'Dissonance/roughness and tonality perception in Lithuanian traditional Schwebungsdiaphonie'
Jelena Jovanović

Commentary on 'Dissonance/roughness and tonality perception in Lithuanian traditional Schwebungsdiaphonie'
Piotr Podlipniak

Roughness and ratios of one-step intervals: A Response to 'Dissonance/roughness and tonality perception in Lithuanian traditional Schwebungsdiaphonie'
Jay Rahn

Commentary on 'Dissonance/roughness and tonality perception in Lithuanian traditional Schwebungsdiaphonie'
Jaan Ross

Authors' Response

Sutartinės: Perhaps an exemplary material for further study on tonal phenomena from cross-cultural perspective
Rytis Ambrazevičius

Regular Article (Special Issue)

- 141 Building an authentic listener: Applying a passive exposure-based training paradigm to detecting differences among compositional styles
Frauke Jürgensen, David G. Pearson, and Ian Knopke

Regular Article

- 157 Perception of Vicentino's 31-tone tuning system
Stephen McAdams, Mikaela Miller, Jonathan Wild and Bruno L. Giordano